Andy: What is passive campaign?

Justin: Marketing: creating posters, or social media posts. Informing RAs so they can tell their constituents. Those are the passive campaigns I’ve seen in Sixth, but there are several other creative ways to do it.

Andy: I did small passive campaign when I was second year around Halloween. “My Culture is Not Your Costume” posters - had examples of people in culturally inappropriate clothing. Doesn’t need a lot of money, but does need time to think about what you want to say and how you want to say it
- Jamshed Ashurov, A.S. Senator

IX. Reports of Members

 - LINK TO FULL REPORT HERE
 - Some topics covered:
 - Funds for Canyonview still restricted; looking for loopholes to get funds

 - Can still join intramural teams!
 - Sports clubs updates
 - This Saturday: yoga, balance workshop
 - Yoga in the Quad - May 9 @ 4pm
- Kat
 - University Centers encompasses Price Center and original Student Services Center
 - Going through a rebranding to fix disconnect University Centers' actual goal and what students think University Centers actually does
 - Proposed name: "Student Union" ?

Andy: I think branding it as Student Union is a good idea because it is confusing to what "University Center" is referring to. Student Union makes it clear that this advocates for student needs

Justin: Maybe reconsider the word "union"

Quinn: The name may be too similar to Associated Students

Alex: What Justin said, the word "union" acts more in reference to the group and less regards to the space

Michelle M: When I think of "union" I think of labor union which is an organization to protect the rights of that group of people

Anthony: Confusing as to what "union" means. Make it so it's more obvious that it's about specific spaces: Maybe Student Union Spaces

Jesse: As a point of reference for everyone, there are conferences specifically for student unions.
