Course Description: <https://sixth.ucsd.edu/cat/courses/cat-125-and-cat-125r.html>

In this public rhetoric and practical communication course, we will use media narratives from stand-up to documentary film and television episodes to explore how we tell our personal, professional, and political stories. The narratives we'll engage with, from Nanette to Gloria Andalúa's writings and the 1619 Project, will situate personal stories, research, and expertise within broader histories and geopolitics, mobilizing rhetorical devices from humor and emotion to lighting and costuming. The texts we watch will serve as (fun, hopefully) springboards to discuss different topics and rhetorical strategies and how to play with those same strategies in our own self-presentation.

The course will be part discussion and part writing workshop, driving towards helping you think through your future plans from graduation to life after college, from graduate school to getting a job you want/like. Part of this will entail using reflective strategies for reading, watching, and listening rhetorically, i.e. being mindful of contexts, messages, and audiences. You will also practice several modes of rhetorical speaking and writing, making decisions about content and structure to inform, persuade, or tell a story, and ultimately support you as you hone your voice and style. Finally you will develop strategic plans, turn your goals into actions, and discuss and develop a work-life balance. Exercises and assignments are loosely structured so as to allow you to compose texts that will support your present and/or future-life hopes and goals, while highlighting different stages of the writing process, from pre-writing and drafting to peer review and collaborative revision.

Course Goals:

- Develop proficiency in public presentation, documentation, and curation.
- Understand and employ various rhetorical strategies
- Direct written, spoken, and digital compositions to multiple audiences.
- Examine your authority as a writer (and how authority in authorship works in terms of race, gender, and sexuality)
- Identify how different genres and citation conventions are appropriate for establishing credibility in different contexts.

- Contacting me:
- Office Hours: 12:00 p.m. -1:00 p.m. TTH by appointment
- E-mail: c6morales@ucsd.edu
- *The best way to contact me (aside from office hours) is via e-mail. I ask that you expect and allow 48 hours for me to respond. If you do not hear back from me within that window, please email again and politely remind me about your message.

Who I am as a Person/Instructor

I am Ms. Morales. My pronouns are she/her, and I identify as a mixed race Latinx Puerto Rican and Mexican woman. I have an M.F.A in Creative Writing from San Diego State University and a B.A. from California State University, San Marcos where I studied Literature in Writing, with an emphasis in Writing. I started as a community college student and then transferred to California State University, San Marcos. I faced economic hardships in getting through school as an independent learner as well as kept a full-time job. I understand there are various challenges when attending higher education.

As your instructor, I believe it is my job to provide you with a safe, inclusive environment where we will learn and discuss current topics of rhetoric, analyze and evaluate texts, and construct expository and argumentative papers, including an extended argument, which synthesizes, integrates, and acknowledges multiple sources. We will come up with community guidelines for the classroom so that we can all respect each other in our process of writing and understanding arguments. With that being said, microaggressions, racist remarks, actions, and hateful behavior will not be tolerated in this course. I also like to tailor the course to students' needs as much as possible. This means that I allow for room in the syllabus to take more time on each unit if needed.

I will also give you several opportunities through short in-class writings to evaluate how the semester is going for you so that I may make changes as needed. My goal is to create a comfortable, inviting environment for all students so learning can take place. I expect respectful behavior in class. It is essential that we speak respectfully and listen attentively to each other, not just the instructor. Respectful behavior should be extended to everyone and includes respecting people of different ages, genders, physical abilities, races, ethnicities, sexual orientations, religious affiliations, political viewpoints, etc.

We may not all think alike, come from the same places, or like the same things, but we will all be respectful to one another. We should strive to be honest and supportive. While discussion, laughter, and even argument are a part of this course, scoffing and dismissive comments are not. We are not in this class to simply agree with each other or with the instructor. We are here to offer, analyze, and connect a variety of viewpoints so that we can strengthen our own abilities as thinkers and scholars.

Required Texts & Technology

- Netflix subscription
- Access to Canvas & Course Reserves
- Notebook & Writing Utensil
- Recommended: They Say, I Say CAT Edition

Big things to know & keep in mind (policy-wise) ...

- For complete CAT policies on attendance, Turnitin, and more please click here.
- Attendance: Missing Several meetings/class sessions, either lectures or sections, will result in lower scores on assignments as this class is a synchronized class that has an asynchronous component. We will cover a lot of the “How-to” on our major projects in our meetings that will happen in the first two weeks, so missing these may result in you not being able to ask direct questions and gain others input on various assignments. I will have how-to videos to help in the weeks that are synchronous.
- Turning in Assignments: All assignments are due by the day and time marked on the syllabus/canvas. Unless otherwise noted, all assignments will be due and completed electronically (via Turnitin).
- Late work: I will accept late work for two days after it is due. For each day it is late, I will deduct 1/3 a letter grade. After that (i.e. after 2 days) you receive an F/0. Work more than three days late, will result in a failing grade for the assignment. If you are concerned you will miss a deadline, please contact me at least 48 hours before the assignment is due to work out a new deadline. (I will not give extensions retroactively)
- I do not accept assignments over email. Everything must be turned in through canvas on the day that it is due.
- All major assignments require you to submit a rough draft before the final due date. While the draft does not count towards your grade, failure to submit a draft will result in the loss of a letter grade on the final submission.
- In order to receive a letter grade, all assignments must be submitted through Canvas.
- For each day work is late, your grade goes down by 1/3 letter. If the assignment is more than 3 days late, you will receive a 0.

Peer Review, Self-Evaluation, and Reflection

Self-assessment, reflection, and collaboration are core components of the first year writing program at UCSD. In this class (and CAT broadly), you will do a fair amount of peer review, revision, working in groups, and reflection on your work. That is, be prepared both to receive and offer constructive criticism and re-work your writing, presentations, etc.

- Peer Review will happen regularly, so be prepared to work with your peers and offer constructive critique and receive feedback.
- Revision will be a crucial component of each major assignment. Failure to revise an assignment and/or participate in peer review will lower your final assignment grade by 1/3 a letter grade.
- Self-Evaluations and Reflections are also a crucial part of this course. I will ask you to do reflections on your work throughout the term and a final reflective portfolio. If you fail to do a reflection, it will lower your final assignment grade by 1/3 a letter grade.
- Grade Contesting Policy (Must be done before Monday of Week 5)

Grade Contesting Policy

- Wait 48 hours between when your work was returned and when you contact your Professor.
- Make an appointment to speak with your Professor in person or through zoom
- Come to the appointment having read your TA/Professor's comments thoroughly and with a written explanation/argument for why your paper/assignment should be re-graded. Your explanation should take into account the comments from your Professor and explain why you think your paper deserves another look.
- Keep in mind that asking for and receiving a re-grade, does not necessarily mean your grade will be higher.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

Students with disabilities who require reasonable accommodations must be approved for services by providing appropriate and recent documentation to the Office of Disabilities. Students authorized by OSD to receive reasonable accommodations should meet with me during my office hours in order to ensure confidentiality. We can discuss your specific accommodations and brainstorm ideas of how I can best help you succeed in this course.

A note on class citizenship and community:

Please note that in this class, we will discuss the politics of race and gender, among other intersections of identity, such as class and sexuality. These conversations can be difficult, thus, I expect you to practice respect, listening, patience, and kindness with and towards each other. This includes how you speak to both me (your professor), your TA, and your fellow classmates. In this course, your ideas may be challenged and I ask that you are open to that challenge, meeting it with intellectual curiosity, respect for others' ideas and experiences, and empathy. I believe that ethical argumentation is imperative to a civil and just society and that is a value that I hope we form, instill, and engage with in this course. This is all to say, disagree with each other, with me, with your TA, but do so in a way that respectfully engages the other person's ideas.

If you are anxious about speaking in class, please let your TA know ASAP. Our goal is to get everyone talking and engaged because that is how we will all learn best! My hope in this course is that you learn something cool (about media! And, writing! And, storytelling!), while also learning key skills from asking good questions to drafting and writing that will help you succeed in college and the workplace more broadly.

Discrimination and Harassment

UCSD does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, age, religion, national origin, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, disability, or status as a U.S. veteran. This class adheres to those guidelines. Alternative viewpoints are welcome in this classroom. However, statements that are deemed racist, sexist, classist, ableist, homophobic, or otherwise discriminatory toward others in the class will not be tolerated and students will be asked to leave. Students come from a wide variety of backgrounds and possess a diverse array of values and beliefs and the classroom must be a safe space to discuss opinions and ideas. As such, I will not tolerate harassment of any kind in my classroom.

Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)

Students requesting accommodations for this course due to a disability should (if needed) provide a current Authorization for Accommodation (AFA) letter issued by the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD) which is located in University Center 202 behind Center Hall. Students are then required to present their AFA letters to the Faculty (please make arrangements to contact your professor privately) and to the OSD Liaison in the department in advance so that accommodations may be arranged. No retroactive accommodations can be provided. The CAT OSD liaison is Lynette Brossard: lbrossard@ucsd.edu.

Academic Integrity

UCSD has a university-wide Policy on Integrity of Scholarship, published annually in the General Catalog, and online <https://academicintegrity.ucsd.edu/>. All students must read and be familiar with this Policy. All suspected violations of academic integrity will be reported to UCSD's Academic Integrity Coordinator. Students found to have violated UCSD's standards for academic integrity may include suspension or dismissal, and academic sanctions may include failure of the assignment or failure of the course.

Grading Schema

The Culture, Art, and Technology Program of Sixth College makes use of a set grading schema, which means that certain letter grades correspond to specific numerical grades. This schema prevents grade inflation and point bargaining. All major assignments (those with a draft and final submission) and participation will be assessed according to the grading schema. Draft must be uploaded on the due date for feedback to be given n time for final draft.

Assignments

Quick note: All assignments must be original work created for this class and should ascribe to UCSD's policy of academic integrity. All major assignments will be graded using the CAT 125 Rubric. Quick note #2: Please make sure you refresh the assignment pages before you start working on them. The assignments are live documents and I will revise them as the course goes along (so, until I go over them in lecture/video lecture, they are somewhat in motion). Journal assignments will provide space for you to reflect on what you are interested in (in life, in career, etc.); imagine the possibilities attached to those ideas; and to reflect on the discussions we have in class and the media we consume. Entries should be 250-400 words each and prompts are below in the syllabus. (Pass/Fail). There will also be a few extra pass/fail assignments in the last three weeks that will be geared towards helping you with your public performance video.

- Personal Narrative -- 25
- Public Performance -- 30
- Reflective Journals and Annotations -- 25
- Final reflection -10
- Participation -- 10

Course Calendar

Please note readings and screenings are liable to change as the class progresses. I will never add additional readings or assignments, but may revise and substitute what is already here (If I change anything, I will give you lots of notice and reminders!). All screenings and readings should be done before class the day that they are on the calendar (unless stated otherwise). If you have readings that you think would be a great fit, please send them my way!

Weeks 1-3: The first half of this course asks you to turn inward and the authors we read and media we watch will demonstrate ways to do this, particularly incorporating personal experience and memoir into broader political conversations. These narratives are all meant as fodder for thinking about how you narrate your own life, experience, and movement through the world and how those stories are both political and powerful.

Weeks 3-5 :The second half of this course turns those same conversations outward, considering how to tell politically impactful stories on topics of your choice. This part of the course asks you to take what you are concerned about, do some research, and then practice how you inform and persuade an audience (i.e. this class) about a topic near and dear to your heart/mind/passion.

Week 1: Introduction to 125/R & Stories and Power

Topics: Personal Narrative, Storytelling, Power & Permission
