

CAT 125/R Schedule

Course Description

Required Texts & Technology

- Access to Canvas & Course Reserves
- Netflix subscription (week 2-4)
- Google Docs or other word processor, Google Drive
- Zoom, working webcam and microphone
- Recommended: They Say, I Say CAT Edition

Course Calendar

Please note readings and screenings are liable to change as the class progresses. I will never add additional readings or assignments, but may revise and substitute what is already here (If I change anything, I will give you notice and reminders!). All screenings and readings should be done before class the day that they are on the calendar (unless stated otherwise).

---

Weeks 1-3: The first half of this course asks you to turn inward and the authors we read and media we watch will demonstrate ways to do this, particularly incorporating personal experience and memoir into broader political conversations. These narratives are all meant as fodder for thinking about how you narrate your own life, experience, and movement through the world and how those stories are both political and powerful.

Weeks 3-5: The second half of this course turns those same conversations outward, considering how to tell politically impactful stories on topics of your choice. This part of the course asks you to take what you are concerned about, do some research, and then practice how you inform and persuade an audience (i.e. this class) about a topic near and dear to your heart/mind/passion.
